

Right to erasure form

Under the current data protection legislation, you can, in some circumstances, ask us to delete personal data that we hold about you. This is known as the ‘right to erasure’, or the ‘right to be forgotten’. We’ve designed this form to make the process as easy as possible. You don’t have to use this form to make the request, but you’d need to give us the same details.

This right applies where, for example:

- we no longer need the personal data for the purposes for which we originally collected it, or
- we rely on your consent for the processing and you withdraw your consent, or
- you object to the processing and we do not have any overriding legitimate reason to continue.

Most of our data processing relies on contractual, statutory, regulatory or legitimate interests bases, and these purposes often dictate how long we need to keep your personal data for. Please see the ‘How long do you keep my information for’ section of our privacy notice at nsandi.com/privacy-notice. Please note that we keep records of Premium Bonds holdings for longer than seven years to allow us to reallocate prizes where we discover that one or more prizes paid out were not valid.
